Hi Mike,

I actually have another call set up with the lead for the heelspitter about a different project and while I have her on the phone I will discuss with her setting up a call on the DO information. I'll be sure to let you know what she says about her availability. No worries about the letter...we certainly know how it is to move to a new building and having to deal with everything that goes with it. I'll be on the lookout for it to come in.

Have a great day!

Amy

Hi Monica,

On our call last month, you mentioned having a conference call with someone in your shop who's an expert in freshwater mussels and can provide us with information on DO needs for the heelsplitter. We're very interested in having that call and would like to set that up with you. Could you check with them and let us know when a good time for that call would be?

Amy, sorry that the letter that I talked with you about hasn't made it to you yet...our mailroom closed in the old building before I could send it and now we're in a new building and we don't have any new stationery with the new address on it....so, will be putting that together again and getting it in the mail to you next week!
